

Society

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Marks, whose wedding took place last Sunday afternoon in Baltimore. Mr. and Mrs. Marks will make their home in Richmond on their return from the North.

Society has decided to roller skate, and this week will see the formal opening of the roller skating club with at least 150 members. And really these Lenten functions are not half as dead as they appear. The morning are actually becoming profitable in that several sewing classes have been organized, and it is nice and entertaining to follow up the class meeting with a luncheon. One begins the afternoon with church-going and later has tea in an agreeable place with an agreeable party, finishing the day with a dinner somewhere, and even the best of them go to theatre once in a great while.

Most of the wives and daughters of the members of the General Assembly that have figured in the entertaining of the past two months have packed their bags and gone home, and things are settling down into a succession of long days.

Numerous are the weddings and engagements set and arranged for formal announcement after Easter. Some of the invitations will come out very shortly, and a sort of plans are on for the entertaining of brides-elect and their maids.

As for the coming week, society will have the first meeting of the skating club on Tuesday night, at the old Horse Show Building, and a long string of charitable affairs. Rehearsal for the big Karma to be given by the Associated Charities and the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities will go forward very rapidly, and the entertainment will be given about the middle of April.

The usual afternoon reception at the Country Club and Hermitage Golf Club will conclude the social calendar of the week.

Interesting Tea Rooms.
The Girls' Club, of Ginter Park, are giving a special delightful tea during the Lenten season. These teas take place every Tuesday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock, and are given in different residences in Ginter Park. The tea will take place this week at the home of Mrs. J. B. Woodward, 119 Chambraine Avenue. Those receiving with Mrs. Woodward and assisting in serving the guests will be Mrs. J. Garland Pollard, Mrs. Christopher Garrett, Miss Gertrude Clarke, Miss Nan Noble, Miss Lucy Throckmorton, Miss Mary Graham, Miss Louise Baldwin, and Miss Bezie Woodward.

The weekly tea given by the Rosemary Library will be held on Thursday afternoon as usual from 4:30 to 6:30 o'clock.

Hortens for the tea room in the palm garden of the Jefferson Hotel, for to-morrow afternoon will be Mrs. Robert G. Cabell, Mrs. St. George Bryan, Miss Gertrude Cannon, assisted by a number of young girls. The tables will be decorated with roses.

Mrs. John Hays Hammond entertaining at a brilliant reception Thursday night in compliment to the officers of the National Civic Federation, which is now holding sessions here, and of which she is national chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Hammond received the guests and had no one assisting. The house was decorated with roses and spring blossoms. A buffet supper was served in the dining room. Mrs. Hammond wore a gown of pink satin, veiled with pink chiffon and embroidered in silver. She wore a necklace, bracelets and tucks of diamonds and huge emeralds.

Mrs. J. Taylor Ellison and Mrs. Allison Hodgeley were among the Richmond women present at these functions.

To Play at White House.
Mrs. Anne Atkinson Burmeister, of this city, has been invited by Mrs. William Howard Taft to play at her reception given at the White House on April 20, Mrs. Burmeister, who is now in New York, is one of the most prominent musicians in this city, and her concerts are among the most interesting musical events of the season here.

For Miss Tate.
The Newark Evening News of recent issue contains the following article of interest to society in this city:

"Miss Hazel Tate, of Richmond, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wynard, of East Orange, N. J., was the guest of honor at an informal dinner given by her host last week. Covers were laid for twenty-five guests."

Art Club Notes.

Tuesday will be a vernishing day for the students of the Art Club of Richmond. Those present: at 4:30 will have the pleasure of hearing Carl Rostrop on "Methods of Reproduction in Illustration," a subject which will be most instructive and interesting, even to those who are not actively engaged in the study of illustration, but especially so to those who wish to make use of art in the newspapers, in advertising, in the magazines and in any other of the many lines of work now open to the illustrator. The club is very fortunate in having this talk, as Mr. Rostrop is a well-known illustrator of this city, and it will welcome its friends and their friends, offering to them after the lecture "the cup that cheers, but not inebriates," and that in view of the interest of the general public in the subject a large attendance is expected.

On last Tuesday afternoon, Miss Mary Day Winn charmed the members with a delightful talk on "College Days at Vassar," and while she would not "tell tales out of school," fearing that some of us might find our way to Vassar and put an end to the good times that are still going on, she gave a most delicious and spicy account of the happy days and nights passed under the roof of her alma mater. The talk was thoroughly enjoyed and all were sorry when their glimpse of the fascinations of college life was over. The membership of the club is, one might say daily increasing, thus extending to the whole city the benefit of a knowledge of art taught along lines which will make not only for the best development of talent, but also for the development of individual character in the pupils, without which it is impossible to rise at any success in art.

During the first week in April the club is to have the pleasure of giving an exhibition of the works of William P. Silva, of Washington. Mr. Silva has exhibited this winter in Washington, Boston, Baltimore, and other large cities, and his exhibitions have been attended by large and appreciative crowds.
